

CONSULTANTS

Martine Nyeko (PhD)

Gulu University

P. O Box, 166, Gulu Uganda

phone: +256 712 033 303 /

794 523 255 / 755197951

e-mail: info@africah.org

Martine Nyeko is an water resource engineer, expert in water resource management, hydrologic modelling, GIS and remote sensing application in hydrology.

Dr. Martine Nyeko has 10 years of experience in water resource management, hydrologic modelling, GIS and remote sensing application in hydrology. He holds a PhD degree in water resources engineering from University of Naples Federico II in Italy, with research focused on hydrologic modeling of watershed. He also has experience in the application of GIS and remote sensing in hydrology. He has worked as lecturer in Gulu University since 2006, holding different position. From June, 2006 to June, 2007 he worked as teaching Assistant, in the Department of Biosystems Engineering, Faculty of Agriculture and Environment. From, 2007 to date, he works as Lecturer in the Department of Biosystems Engineering, Faculty of Agriculture and Environment. In January 2012 he was appointed the Deputy Dean Faculty of Agriculture and Environment. Dr. Martine Nyeko has coordinated several projects and has lead several consultancies. Since 2013 he has coordinated three European Union projects, with several partners in Africa and Europe. He has lead three national consultancy and worked as GIS and modelling advisor at one international consultancy (Identification of a Multipurpose Water Resources Development Project in the Aswa River Basin (Uganda & South Sudan)).